

Coronavirus (COVID-19)

To our clients,

Given the current situation, we wanted to let you know that the team at Riskwest are available to help in any way we can to assist you to continue with your important activities whilst protecting the health and wellbeing of all.

As a provider of services in risk, business continuity and pandemic risk management, we obviously closely monitor and respond to the evolving situation and adapt our own pandemic response to suit the changing circumstances.

In light of the initial shift towards a reduction in face-to-face meetings, workshops and training we increased our capability and capacity to provide our services (e.g. meetings, exercises, workshops and training) 'virtually' and we will continue to work with each of you to develop a plan for how we can continue with current projects in this new format, if required. In the meantime, should you have any specific or immediate questions, please contact us on (08) 9321 9292 or admin@riskwest.com.au.

With regards to our own staff, there are precautionary measures which we have in place:

- Ensuring any Riskwest personnel who feel unwell or display flu-like symptoms remain at home, contact their GP and adhere to the Australian government self-quarantine requirements
- Abiding by Government imposed travel restrictions
- Stressing the importance of increased hygiene and social distancing both in the office and elsewhere.

During the first lockdown, we also enhanced the ability for all personnel to work from home, if and as required. For a business such as ours, we do not expect there to be any noticeable disruption to the provision of our services to you. You do not need to change the way you contact us as all our usual systems and processes remain in place.

At this stage, we are comfortable to continue to meet with our clients face-to-face should that be the preference. However, this may change based on government advice and we request that the same precautions are taken, namely:

- Ensuring that any client personnel who has recently returned from overseas or have had a COVID test meets stipulated self-quarantine periods before agreeing to attend a physical meeting
- Ensuring that any person that presents with flu like symptoms refrains from attending any physical meeting
- Ensuring that the environment and conditions where any physical meetings are held in (e.g. room size and number of attendees for improved social distancing) are appropriately considered and meet contemporary government guidance.

We recognise this is a difficult time for all and encourage you to contact us directly if you require any clarification or wish to discuss further. Please feel free to contact your usual contact or the Riskwest Office on (08) 9321 9292 or email admin@riskwest.com.au
